Boys aged 3 to 18 years

Stover School

September 2008

Reviewed in November 2019

This should be read with:
The Safeguarding Policy
The Examination Policy
The Curriculum Policy

Rationale:

At Stover School we aim to present a curriculum which encourages the development of self-reliance, self-confidence, self-esteem and motivation to learn. We aspire to create a climate of warmth and support in which all our pupils feel valued.

Our pupils, including those with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND), will receive programmes of study, which are balanced and differentiated. Our purpose is to provide tailored experience and support in order to help pupils progress to the best of their abilities.

A Special Educational Need and Disability is defined as:

- a) 'a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of children of the same age', and/or
- b) 'a disability which either prevents or hinders a child from making use of educational facilities of the kind generally available in school' (Section 312 Education Act 1996).
- c) 'a person has a disability if he or she has a physical or mental impairment that has a substantial and long-term adverse effect on his or her ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities.' (Disability Rights Commission, Code of Practice for Schools, disability Discrimination Act 1995: Part 4).

Aims and Principles

In accordance with our stated rationale, we aim to support the needs of all pupils with SEND and will make reasonable adjustments to ensure that those pupils have the greatest possible access to a broad and balanced curriculum, involving parents, as appropriate, at all stages. We believe that meeting individual's SEND is a whole school responsibility and that provision for pupils with SEND should, wherever possible, be the same as for every other child in school.

Procedures

This policy has been developed with regard to the Equality Act 2010, the Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Green Paper (SENDAG) 2011, the DfE Equality Act Guidance 2012, the Children and Families Act 2014 and Special educational needs and disability code of practice: 0 to 25 years Jan 2015

We will apply procedures as they are described in the Codes throughout the Nursery, Preparatory and Senior Schools.

It is recognised that children that are on the special needs register can be more vulnerable. This is reflected in our safeguarding policy.

Admission Arrangements

Stover School is non-selective and we look positively at all requests for admissions. The school has an Accessibility Plan available on request.

New Entries/Transfer from other schools:

The Principal/Registrar/Head of Prep School/Head of Nursery will interview prospective students with their parents/carers. If it is established that the pupil has SEND depending on their age the relevant SENCO will be informed and will review any relevant documentation to establish if Stover School has the expertise to meet the needs of the child. If it is felt that the needs could be met, the relevant SENCO will arrange a meeting with parents/carers to discuss the needs of their child in more depth and any arrangements that would need to be made to provide any additional support that the student requires. It might be necessary to contact the SENCO at the current school, arrange an observation of the pupil in his/her current school setting and arrange some structured taster days to ensure a smooth transition is achieved. All teachers will be informed through the distribution of a pupil profiles of the needs of the pupil.

Primary/Prep School Transfer:

The SENCO of the Senior School is available at the Year 6 Open Evening in September each year and throughout the year to discuss provision for individual children who will transfer to Senior School. The SENCO will hold meetings during the Summer Term with class teachers and the Head of Prep School to discuss and plan provision for children transferring from Prep School. Pupils' profiles will be distributed to Senior School subject teachers to inform about needs and strategies and the SEND register will be updated. Pupils with SEND will come to the Learning Support area in Senior School during the summer term to meet staff and get familiar with the facilities and organisation.

Accommodation & Resources

The Senior School Learning Support Department is currently accommodated within the Cedar building and consists of a Learning Support Office where all confidential records for Senior School SEND students are held in a locked filing cabinet, a classroom for study and prep, a meeting/small group teaching room, three small rooms which are used for 1-to-1 teaching lessons, conducting assessments, individual study and supporting pupils during exams, tests and study. Confidential records for SEND children in the Prep School are locked in a filing cabinet in the SENCO's classroom.

Integration is a commitment and most teaching should take place within the classroom particularly by differentiated teaching. However, due to a range of needs, some withdrawal may take place on an individual basis or in small groups in both Senior and Preparatory Schools.

The Learning Support Office, Learning Support Classrooms and the GLAD room hold a bank of materials to support SEND work as well as textbooks and workbooks from the different subject areas. These materials are under constant review and are updated as necessary. There are also computers, a set of chrome books for research and a printer/copier available to be used to complete homework or access programmes helpful to SEND children.

Homework

The staff of the Learning Support Department in the Senior School will support pupils during Activity time on a daily basis. Children on the SEND register who need individual help are able to attend and to receive support with their homework tasks. If the Learning Support Staff feel that a child does not require any support and is able to work independently they might be asked to attend the Activity Supported Study in a designated classroom with general teaching staff.

Access to the curriculum

Our aim is for all pupils to receive programmes of study, which are balanced and differentiated. We recognise that pupils with SEND might at times benefit from not attending all lessons of the regular timetable in order for them to be successful overall.

Therefore, in Senior School some students will be offered the opportunity to drop a language or choose fewer options in Years 10 and 11, to provide them with additional study time, group or 1-to-1 support lessons. We also recognise that for some pupils access to vocational courses would benefit their overall development and help them fulfil their future ambitions. Therefore, Stover School has links with local colleges and pupils are able to attend vocational education on a day release basis.

In Prep School intervention is planned by the class teacher or HLTA in conjunction with the class teacher. Pupils come out of language lessons, assemblies and at other times on an individual basis, as arranged with parents.

Identification, Assessment, Action Planning and Review

The importance of early identification, assessment and provision for any child who may have SEND cannot be over-emphasised. The earlier the action is taken, the more responsive the child is likely to be. If a difficulty proves transient the child will subsequently be able to learn with their peer group. If the child's difficulties prove less responsive to provision made by the school, then an early start can be made in considering the additional provision that might be needed to support the child's progress and if the school can meet the child's needs appropriately. At Stover School we use the Devon Graduated Approach to identify, assess and record the needs of children and young people requiring special educational provision.

Identification

The form, class and subject teachers are most likely to identify a child's SEND. It may be that the child is failing to make academic progress in certain basic skills or is showing extreme patterns of behaviour and has very poor self-esteem. The parents might also express an initial concern. In addition, assessments in SPS in the core subjects, the screening process undertaken by the Learning Support department for all children in Years 7 and 9, as well as for any new students, will highlight any weaknesses in the areas of literacy or numeracy. Whatever the trigger, the expression of concern will be acted on as soon as possible.

Assessment

Once a concern has been registered, an initial assessment of the child's difficulty is made by the Cause of Concern form being completed by either the classroom or relevant subject teacher(s). This might also include some work samples and/or test papers. After a consultation with the parents, further assessments might be suggested, a referral to an outside agency or specialist, strategies within the classroom and/or some specific intervention.

The results of all this information will be collated by the SENCO and discussed with the parents and other relevant parties (e.g. the Deputy Head and subject teachers). Following the report and discussions with the parents and subject teachers, the SENCO will plan and implement intervention strategies to support the pupil, and devise a pupil profile if necessary.

The student will be added to the SEND register and will be monitored throughout the school year. Progress of pupils receiving any intervention measures is monitored through each pupil's assessment profile. Provision will be personalised and modified as deemed necessary by the SENCO in consultation with the pupil, parents, teachers and LSA's.

Pupil Profile

Pupil Profiles are an important tool in the day-to-day work with SEND children. The purpose of a Pupil profile (PP) is to inform teachers and others working with the child of the specific difficulties the child has. Some general information will be recorded about the pupil, as well as the nature of support needed, some specific details, the support provision arranged, access arrangements and any recommended strategies.

A PP will be drawn up for each child with SEND and will be reviewed at least once per year. Once a PP has been drawn up it will be sent to parents for approval or discussed during a meeting. Once this has been agreed the PP will be shared with all teaching staff. The PP will be monitored and revised regularly by the Learning Support and Teaching Staff.

Target Setting

Targets for each pupil on the SEND register in Senior School are set by each subject teacher. If a child has additional support in Learning Support or an EHC Plan, the Learning Support staff will plan specific intervention and set targets if appropriate. The targets set should be SMART (Specific, measurable, achievable, realistic, timed) and will be reviewed at regular intervals and amended accordingly.

Targets for each pupil on the SEND register in Prep School are set and reviewed by the class teacher if they are academic. The SENCO will check progress through conversations with them and through the book scrutinies.

Emotional targets are set by the class teacher in conjunction with the Well-being mentor and the SENCO.

Involvement of an Educational Psychologist or other external agencies

Where the involvement of external agencies or additional provision is required, a pupil moves into the category of 'Outside agencies involvement' on the SEND register. When this is the case, the SENCO takes the lead in contacting parents (informing them of any costs involved) and the outside agency and arranges the visit. When a report on this visit is received, the SENCO will share this with the Deputy Head/Head of Prep School and all staff through giving information in the weekly staff meeting and distributing a new and/or updated Pupil Passport. Whilst the SENCO will usually take the lead in implementing any recommendations, day-to-day provision continues to be the responsibility of the class/subject or form teacher.

EHC Plan

Very occasionally the needs of an individual cannot be met effectively through the provision of school alone. If this is the case then either parents or school can request a formal (statutory) assessment which may be carried out by the Local Education Authority (LEA). Following a multi-agency assessment, an Educational Health Care Plan may be prepared for the child describing the provision that is required for that pupil which will be reviewed annually. A new PP will be devised at this point with appropriate intervention strategies and targets.

Documentation

All SEND information can be accessed by teaching staff on the W:Drive under Learning Support Department:

- SEND register
- Pupil Profiles
- Exam concession
- Screening Results
- SEND explained
- Training/INSET documents

The SEND Register is a list in which all children are registered that have some Special Educational Needs and Disabilities and there are three categories namely school awareness, additional support within school and outside agency involvement. The information aims to give a quick overview of the child's essential data such as date of birth, year group, tutor, statement/EHC Plan, access arrangements, any assessments conducted and the nature of their special need.

In the Senior School, reading and spelling assessments might be carried out for any child who falls below 85% in the NFER English End of Year Test or in the screening process; or who is on the SEND register and has a specific literacy need. In the case of the latter, they will be added to the SEND Register and tracked under school awareness. In SPS pupils are tracked under school awareness if they are identified as consistently working two sub-levels below their chronological age.

Access arrangements

A candidate's access arrangement requirements are determined through their needs being assessed by an Educational Psychologist, the SENCO Kerstin Sorensen, Shirley Tanner or Lucy Brown who hold the relevant qualifications to assess pupils appropriately (see whole school assessment process). The results of these will be kept electronically on the L:Drive and also forwarded to the Examinations Officer as evidence of need, and submitted to the awarding bodies accordingly.

It is the responsibility of the SENCO, Shirley Tanner or Lucy Brown to inform staff of any special arrangements that individual candidates can be granted during the course of exams and assessments.

The allocation of rooms for invigilation and the appropriate support for access arrangement candidates will be considered between the exam officer, the Senior Teacher Operations, the Deputy Head and SENCO.

Teacher's responsibilities and procedures

- Teachers must inform the SENCO when there is a concern about an individual student. The SENCO gathers information regarding concerns and strategies already implemented. If all appropriate unilateral strategies have been attempted and further intervention is necessary, the SENCO will carry out an individual assessment and if necessary contact parents to discuss further intervention and whether the school can continue to meet the child's needs. If necessary a PP will be devised for the pupil.
- Attention must be given to devise strategies and identify appropriate methods for ensuring access to the curriculum including strategies for providing differentiated teaching and differentiated homework. The volume of homework should be judged sensitively.
- Teachers must liaise regularly with the SENCO to provide feedback on the pupil's progress and be aware of pupil needs and the objectives of the PP.
- Teachers need to set SMART targets for each SEND pupil.
- Teachers need to keep themselves informed about pupils' SEND through the relevant documentation and inform the SENCO of strategies and teaching methods that have been successful with individual students in order to update the relevant documentation.

- The teacher must be aware of access arrangements for all pupils and ensure that they are put in place during tests and exams.
- Teachers might be asked to attend meetings arranged by the SENCO with parents of individual students to discuss individual student's progress or difficulties if necessary.
- Teachers need to ensure the LSA's supporting specific students know and understand their roles as well as the objectives, targets, strategies and teaching approaches for the session.
- Teachers are responsible for the overall learning, behaviour and marking of work of students with SEN even if the student is supported by a LSA.
- Teachers should ensure that the child's achievements are recognised and celebrated in order to nurture self esteem and confidence.

Publishing Information

The SEN Information report is published on the school's website as required by the Special educational needs and disability code of practice: 0 to 25 years Jan 2015 and updated as required throughout the year.

English as an Additional Language (EAL)

These pupils are not considered to have special educational needs and their needs are met by the Head of Department for EAL. However, some EAL children might have Special Educational Needs and the Learning Support Department and EAL Department will work closely together to identify those children's needs, provide additional support and monitor the provision.

Code of Practice

The school's SEND policy is freely available to staff, parents and governors. The school welcomes parental involvement. Parents are encouraged to meet the class teacher, SENCO, Deputy Head, the Head of Prep School or the Principal to share their concerns at any mutually agreeable time. At review meetings with parents the child's strengths as well as weaknesses are discussed and suggestions are made as to how the parents can help at home. The focus is on jointly tackling shared concerns, monitoring outcomes and reviewing progress together.

Implementation

The SENCO will work with parents, pupils and staff to evaluate the school's effectiveness in meeting Special Educational Needs.

Evaluation

The SEND Policy will be evaluated annually and an assessment of the effectiveness of the school's implementation of its SEND Policy will be given as part of the Principal's report to governors.
